NATIONAL VOLUNTEERING WEEK

“

Enactus continues to inspire students to enhance their entrepreneurial spirit, capitalise on their business skills and to innovatively handle real-world situations. If winning is about being the best, losing is about learning and paving your way to greater success. The Enactus experience transforms both the lives of the people, the projects served, and in turn, the lives of Enactus students as they develop into more effective, values-driven leaders. It has been a pleasure to associate with India@75 to carry out the National volunteering Week. Such a platform is very much needed for the students to showcase what they can and are doing for the betterment of India.

VOLUNTEERS SPEAK

Day 7
24
January
2018

According to me, "Volunteering is the only way to give back to the society". Volunteering has a positive effect on our community. It will not only help us to learn more about ourselves, But also give us new opportunities for career growth along with giving us new insight and a new vision for a better society . Let us all come forward to celebrate initiatives like National Volunteer Week which help us and make us realise that a small initiative can surely have a big impact on the society.

Simmi Garg
President
Sahyog Care For You

"Having talent individually is not enough until you let it out for the benefit of others. Often people desire for that too but don't get a good platform to execute their thoughts. National week of volunteering fulfils the cause making effective use of the Human Resources."

Divya Arora
SRC
Parul University

Building upon the Digital India campaign of Government of India, volunteers from United College of Engineering and Research organized a workshop on digital literacy for children and adults.

The team of Enactus Ramanujan College went to Najafgarh Sapera Basti for a cleanliness drive. They distributed gloves and dust masks and cleaned the streets in order to raise awareness

For childhood to be carefree, Sahyog Care for You conducted a session with the children of Mangolpuri, Sultanpuri and Medak District of Telangana on child sexual abuse in schools and communities.
